WORKING PAPERS

Yoon, S.J., Roh, S.M. & Suh, C.S. "Evolving Hate? The Changing Face of Online Misogyny in South Korea, 2015–2025," (Analysis complete; accepted for presentation at EASA 2026).

Yoon, S.J., Jarvis, J. A. & Lee, J.W. "Never Successful Enough: Failure Trajectories in South Korean Education," (Initial draft complete).

Yoon, S.J. "Same Affect, Opposite Mobilization: Partisan Divergence in Political Action." (Preliminary analysis complete).

SELECTED RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Independent Research

- “Same Affect, Opposite Mobilization: Partisan Divergence in Political Action” 2026–Present
- Analyzed 2024 American National Election Studies (ANES) data ($N \approx 1,990$) using survey-weighted logit and Poisson regression.
 - Modeled how partisanship moderates associations between group affect and eight civic participation modes.
 - Identified contrasting mobilization patterns: warmth was associated with participation among Democrats, whereas coldness was associated with participation among Republicans.

Collaborative Research

- “Evolving Hate? The Changing Face of Online Misogyny in South Korea, 2015–2025” 2026–Present
(Collaborators: Seungmi Roh, Hallym University and Chan S. Suh, Chung-Ang University)
- Preprocessed a 42,945-post corpus from 14 Korean online communities.
 - Estimated a 13-topic latent Dirichlet allocation (LDA) model and validated topic labels against source posts.
 - Traced the semantic broadening of slurs into generalized stigma markers.

- “Crisis, Participation, and Reproduction of Korean Civil Society,” Korea 2026–Present
(PI: Jung In Kim, Chuncheon National University of Education)
- Participated in research design, including the definition of research questions and target populations.
 - Conducted FGIs with three groups differentiated by their proximity to established SMOs.
 - Coded and analyzed qualitative data to identify recurring patterns and meaning structures.
 - Contribute to reports titled “How Can We Reproduce Korean Civil Society,” synthesizing core findings.

- “Protest Survey: Youth Demanding the Impeachment of President Yoon (GetOutYoon),” Korea 2025
- Coded open-ended survey data and conducted analyses examining gender, age, and prior experience
 - Identified how civic motivations shaped youth participation and gendered perceptions of democracy
 - Analyzed data for a study selected for the 2025 Good Research × Field Knowledge Competition

Research Assistantships

- “Experiences of Success and Failure in Korean University Admissions” 2023–2025
(PI: Jonathan A. Jarvis, Brigham Young University)
- Proposed theoretical reframing of success/failure as relational processes
 - Conducted interviews with 8 students and 14 parents and designed pilot coding guide
 - Conducted systematic coding in Dedoose to theorize mechanisms of goal adjustment

- “A Qualitative Study on the Status of Korean Civil Society in the COVID-19 Era” 2021–2022
(PI: Jin-Wook Shin, Chung-Ang University)
- Participated in 24 interviews and co-moderated 3 focus groups with civic activists
 - Performed comparative thematic analysis identifying cross-group patterns in activists' strategies
 - Drafted literature review and developed revision plan for R&R response

Administrative Assistant

- Student Success and Major Design Center, Hansung University, Seoul, South Korea 2025–present
- Conducted a comparative analysis of learning analytics systems across 12 Korean universities.
 - Coauthored a peer-reviewed article based on the analysis.
